THE PACIFIC Commercial Advertiser.

For the P. C. Advertiser. Flight of Thought.

INSCRIBED TO REV. J. D. STRONG. How swift thought flies ! Go, mark the lightning's track-Trace blazing comets to Aphelion back-The flying fragments a volcano gave-The leaping torrent or the lashing wave-The sweeping tornad or the thunder's dash-The whirlwind's fury or the cannon's flashpeath's hissing weapon or the rush of time, That is, and was, e'er sight could feel it saw. From world to world, its rapid wing speeds light, Creation kindles at its lustrous flight; Night shrinks diminished as it fleeting flies and rends the shadows from the bright'ning skies, But swifter thought-it bursts the chains of clay, Explores the infinite, and soars away To shapeless chaos on confines of space. Where sun hath never shone, it tries to trace The extremest verge of all created things. Through ages past, a trackless pathway wings, Then flits to future ; dares the awful glanco of all that fills eternity's expanse. Ascending, turns its heaven-circling flight, A blazing meteor from the womb of night, Mounts to the throne of God and looks unblenched, its wing unwearied, and its life unquenched; And light and time pause on their path aghast, While thought is fleeting in its passage past. One moment scarce has sped from mortal view, Till thought returns and could its race renew.

Honolulu, 1856.

He is the best accountant who can cast up correctly he sum of his own errors .- Nevins. It is not easy to straighten in the oak the crook that grew in the sapling. You will never have a friend if you must have one without a failing.

And beold God was there."

A HAPPY FIRESIDE.—Home is the residence not merely of the body but of the heart; it is a place for the affections to unfold and develop themselves; for children to love and learn, and play in; for husband and wife to toil smilingly together, and make life a blessing. The object of all ambition should be to be happy at home; if we are not happy there, we cannot be happy elsewhere. It is the best proof of the virtues of a family circle to see a happy fireside.

Music not only improves a man's tastes but his morals. It gives him a taste for home that amends his habits wonderfully. The man who spends his evenings with a piano, is seldom seen in dram shops, and never with night brawlers. We believe in music, and candidly think that one flute will do as much towards driving rowdyism out of a neighborhood as four pelicemen and a bull-dog.

"Are you an Odd Fellow?" "No Sir, I've been married a week." "I mean do you belong to the Order of Odd Fellows?" "No! I belong to the Order of Married Men." How dumb! Are you a Mason?" "No! I'm a carpenter by trade!" "Worse and worse! Are you a Son of Temperance?" "Confound you, no! I am a son of Mr. John Gosling." The querist went his way with something of a flea in his ear.

WASHINGTON'S SERVANTS .- Almost every negro that dies in the south at an advanced age, now a days, is proclaimed by the paragraph makers to have been a OAK, ASH AND HICKORY PLANK, FOR H. HACKFELD & CO. household servant of Washington, and most of them were "at his bed side when he died."
